

With all the layoffs that are going on in this country, the rules you are about to implement are going to cause many more. Many people rely on telemarketing jobs to support their families. It is not just people making phone calls. There are many types of jobs that will be lost thanks to the legislation you are passing. Think about the jobs that will be lost, the hit on the economy and the number of people that will have to turn to welfare to help raise their families. I would hope that you would consider all the harm that these regulations can cause. Telemarketing is not a bad business. Telemarketing employees are hard working Americans. Please think about all the people involved in this before you act.
